ABOUT THIS DIRECTORY

For your convenience, this information in this directory is divided up into segments:

- Firms are located in Local Section Information & Member Firm Profiles
- Professional Affiliates are located in Professional Affiliate Firms
- Individual members are located in Individual Members

The Local Section Information & Member Firm Profiles is a roster of firms that employ licensed AIA Colorado members. Firms included in the roster are not necessarily architecture firms, but do employ a licensed AIA Colorado architect. Licensed architects represented in this listing are designated by the AIA or FAIA designation after their names in the Individual Members section. The Professional Affiliate Firms section highlights those members who are affiliated with the design and construction industry and are sorted by their primary business function. Finally, the Individual Members section contains individual listings of members, including architects (AIA and FAIA members) and interns (Associate AIA members).

All information in AIA Colorado's 2014 Firm Profile & Membership Directory has been provided by firms, individual members and professional affiliate members. The information was deemed accurate at the time of publication. However, if the information is not accurate, members may contact AIA Colorado at 303-446-2266, or send an e-mail with changes to info@aiacolorado.org. AIA respects the privacy of its members. This directory includes firm and personal information supplied by members. Individual listings do not include e-mail addresses. WELCOME

Welcome to the 2014 edition of AIA Colorado's Firm Profile & Membership Directory, one of several AIA member benefits. This publication, along with our online directory at www.aiacolorado.org, provides members with colleagues' current contact information and an overview of the many resources that AIA Colorado offers.

AIA Colorado's headquarters, conveniently located near the state capitol, serve members throughout the state in the AIA Denver, AIA Colorado North, AIA Colorado South and AIA Colorado West sections through a variety of in-person and online programs and resources.

Recent updates to our bylaws have created local and state boards that will be more agile and better able to focus on efforts that provide value to our members. Our merging of the financial responsibilities and careful review of all of the programs that we offer will free up valuable staff time to focus on the quality of our events and education. We are excited to be one of the first components in the country embracing and acting on the AIA National "Repositioning" and are pleased to be sharing our experiences with other chapters around the country.

As this annual publication goes to press, we are preparing to update our strategic plan. The main areas of focus for AIA continue to be:

- Advocating for public policy and legislation that positively impacts our profession and the built environment
- Expanding community appreciation for great architecture and the value of hiring an AIA architect
- Elevating member knowledge and expertise through quality resources and programs

The old adage that 'what you get out of your association depends on the effort you put in' remains true, but we recognize that members today demand a variety of vehicles for engagement. Our central location is conducive to hosting lectures, events and legislative receptions. Also, we will continue to host member meetings and programs within each local section. And, we are investing in state-of-the-art technology that will make meetings more inclusive across geographic barriers, as well as build a suite of programs available to members on your schedules – accessible online, 24/7.

Beyond participating in the many opportunities that AIA Colorado creates, we encourage you to browse this directory, pick up the phone, and call one of your peers. Reach out to a board member to voice your thoughts or volunteer for a task force. The value of a shared idea, collaboration, or lifelong friendship is immeasurable.

This directory is made possible by the ongoing support of our advertisers and sponsors listed in the Buyers' Guide and Advertiser Index. Their investment in AIA Colorado and the profession is important to our future success, and we encourage you to support them.

Sincerely,

Kevin Eronimous, AIA

AIA CONTINUING EDUCATION SYSTEM (CES)

AIA Membership Continuing Education Requirement

Members are required to earn 18 Learning Units (LU) per calendar year. Of those 18 LU, 12 must be Health, Safety, Welfare (HSW). A member who exceeds the annual requirement may carry up to 18 LU hours (including 12 hours of HSW) over to the following calendar year. Carryover credit can be used for one year only; it is not cumulative. Only the number of credits needed to fulfill the annual requirement for the following year may be carried over. Extra credits may not be carried past the one-year limit.

Deadlines for Reporting AIA Activities

A member who fails to meet the annual requirements will be given a nine-month grace period. Any credit earned during the nine-month grace period will apply towards the deficit with the grace period ending September 30. During the grace period, members are also able to report retroactively any activities that were completed in the previous year.

Member Continuing Education Audits

AIA CES conducts an annual audit of members' transcripts. Members who do not complete the calendar year's annual requirement of general LU/HSW are subject to a random audit, in which auditors review the transcript for the minimum number of credits. Members' credits are calculated as follows:

overage from previous year + audit year + current year

Credits earned in the current year that apply toward the previous year's requirements are not subtracted from the current year's totals. If a member is randomly audited for the audit year's requirements and the credits are not completed by September 30 of the current year, the member is not eligible for membership renewal until nine new credits dated October 1 of the current year or later are completed.

Member activities are randomly reviewed throughout the year to ensure compliance. If a member attended the same course twice within one year, one of the courses is removed from the transcript. A course title self-reported by a member that does not indicate a relevance to architecture will probably be rejected.

Transcript Records

Individual member transcript records are updated daily on www.aia.org. Anyone with an active AIA membership number can access a transcript online by following the steps below.

1. Visit www.aia.org/education
2. Click on "CES Discovery Sign In" on the left menu
3. Click the blue icon button "Go to Sign In" at the center of the page
4. At the Discovery homepage, please log in using your www.aia.org primary email address and password
5. Upon sign-in, the AIA CES Discovery "Welcome AIA Members" home page will appear in your browser
6. To see your transcript, simply click the "Transcript" tab in the red horizontal band across the top of the screen
7. Select the transcript date range from the "Start Date" and "End Date" pull-down menus at the top of the page
8. Click the "Filter by Date Range" button. To clear the dates you selected and start over, click the "Reset" button.
9. View the transcript for a particular course by clicking on the course name

AIA CES transcripts constitute a six-year history of each member's continuing education credits. We recommend that members keep course materials and documentation of course completion for six years. These materials will be useful if a member's CES records are audited by AIA or a state licensing board.

Self-Reported Activities

If a course is not offered by an AIA CES Approved provider, members have the option of self-reporting the course or activity. The intent of this activity must be educational in nature and incorporate new knowledge in reference to their practice of architecture. Members must indicate whether the activity they are reporting is a self-designed, structured, or professional community service self-reported educational activity:

- Self-Designed Activity. This type of learning activity is organized by the member specifically to meet his or her individual needs. A self-designed activity frequently involves more than one type of medium or method, such as research, reading, interviewing subject experts, listening to audiotapes, and/or viewing videos. To determine what qualifies for self-reporting, ask yourself the following questions: (1) Is this a planned learning activity? (2) Is this activity intended to be educational or operational? (3) Are you acquiring new knowledge or are you sharing your knowledge with others? (4) How will you apply this new knowledge to your practice? This method is not acceptable for health, safety, and welfare (HSW) credit.
- Structured Self-Reported Program. This is a structured activity offered by an organized, third-party, non-AIA provider. Documentation of attendance/participation will usually be required as a supplement when reporting this activity to meet a state licensure requirement. For members who self-report a structured activity, the AIA is not able to assist in acquiring any support documentation that may be required by a state licensing board MCE audit.
- Professional Community Service. This type of activity could include architecture panels or community board meetings. Members can self-report 2 hours (LU) of community service per calendar year.

To be eligible for credit, all self-reported activities must be planned educational activities that provide you with new knowledge that can be applied toward the practice of architecture. Members should complete the AIA/CES Self-Report and submit it online. Be sure to specify which type of learning activity you are reporting so the data can be entered accurately into your transcript. The title should be indicative of the course content. Members calculate LU hours for self-reported activities by reporting the number of hours spent in architecture-related learning. Think in terms of billable hours applied to learning.

You may submit online via the Discovery platform and following the steps below.

1. Begin at www.aia.org/education
2. Click on "CES Discovery Sign In" on the left margin
3. Click the blue icon button "Go to Sign In" at the center of the page
4. At the Discovery homepage, please log in using your aia.org primary email address and password
5. Select the "Self-reported Activities" tab
6. Scroll to the bottom and click "Add New." Fill in the form and click "Save". Once submitted, each self-report will be reviewed within 5 business days. If approved, the status will appear as "Approved."

Mandatory State Continuing Education Requirement for Licensure Renewal

All licensed architects in the State of Colorado are required to obtain 12.0 HSW CEH per calendar year. Carryover between calendar years is not accepted and the current renewal period ends Oct. 31, 2015.

Following a learning activity (i.e., anything that counts for credit), architects must either complete the DORA CE structured report form or take a quiz or test. Architects must keep DORA forms on file for auditing purposes. Forms can be obtained from the DORA website and are provided at all AIA programs. (Note: AIA continuing education transcripts will not be accepted by DORA as documentation for completing the continuing education requirement.)

Subsequently, you may be audited; at which time you must provide proof that you have complied with the continuing education requirements outlined in the board rules and you will be required to submit completed documentation in the form of a Continuing Education Structured Form for each CEH earned.

Visit www.dora.state.co.us for more information.

ARCpac and Colorado Architects SDC focus on the interests of Colorado's licensed architects, whether they are AIA members or not. No AIA membership dues go toward ARCpac or Colorado Architects SDC.

The profession of architecture is significantly influenced by elected officials and the actions they take. To have a more active role in the election process and to raise funds for that purpose, a PAC and an SDC are necessary. ARCpac and Colorado Architects SDC provide additional opportunities to create relationships with state legislators.

These efforts enable Colorado architects to be active leaders who create relationships with elected officials who support the profession and shape the environment in which architects practice.

Recent issues of importance include legislation that:

- directly affects the practice and regulation of architecture, including licensure;
- is of an architectural nature, including planning, zoning, transportation, and engineering;
- affects the construction industry, including capital funding;
- relates to the built environment, such as affordable housing;
- affects the business of architecture; and
- concerns energy efficiency or sustainable design and construction, among others.

ARCpac and Colorado Architects SDC distribute funds during election years to candidates running for state office. Donations are made to candidates who support issues of importance to architects, regardless of party affiliation. Contributions cannot be declared to any specific candidate. The executive committee of each organization makes funding decisions.

Mission:
The mission of AIA Colorado is to be the voice of the architectural profession and the primary resource for its members.

Vision:
AIA Colorado inspires members to be leaders in the collaborative design of a quality built environment.

AIA Colorado Seeks to:

- Influence public policy to shape the profession and the realm in which architects practice.

- Provide members access to high-quality education, resources and tools to enhance their professional practice and pursuit of excellence.
- Lead the profession through a united membership and maintain sufficient resources to serve AIA Colorado members.

History:
The Colorado Association of Architects was organized in 1890, and the elected officers were Robert S. Roeschlaub, president; Harold W. Baerresen, vice president; Eugene R. Rice, secretary; and Frank E. Edbrooke, treasurer. The same men were re-elected to office at the second annual meeting held Dec. 21, 1891. The main topic of discussion at that event was submitting an application for a charter as a chapter of The American Institute of Architects. The charter was received April 4, 1892, and included the states of Colorado, Wyoming and the territory of New Mexico. It was not until 1947 that each state had its own chapter. In 1969, the Colorado Chapter was renamed the Colorado Society of Architects, and in 1984, it was renamed The American Institute of Architects Colorado (AIA Colorado).

AIA COLLEGE OF FELLOWS

AIA bestows the recognition of Fellowship for achievement in architecture on members who have contributed notably to the advancement of the profession of architecture. With the exception of the Gold Medal, Fellowship is the highest honor AIA can bestow on a member. It is conferred on members with at least 10 years of membership who have made significant contributions to the aesthetic, scientific and practical efficiency of the profession; to the standards of architectural education, training and practice; to the building industry through leadership of AIA and other related professional organizations; to the advancement of the living standards of people through their improved environment; and to society through significant public service.

Those advanced to Fellowship can use the "FAIA" designation after their names in recognition of their contributions.

The following people came into the area from other chapters in the early years and were automatic Fellows when assigned to the AIA Colorado Chapter. (Area: Colorado, Wyoming and the territory of New Mexico, April 4, 1892).

THE ARCHITECTURAL EDUCATION FOUNDATION, AIA COLORADO

The Architectural Education Foundation, AIA Colorado was born out of the devotion of five AIA members to the practice of architecture. On January 23, 1934, Robert K. Fuller, FAIA, announced on behalf of himself and four others, the creation of a special trust fund "to advance the interest of the profession of architecture in the state of Colorado." This was the realization of 10 years of commitment by Robert Fuller, FAIA; William E. Fisher, FAIA; George H. Williamson, FAIA; William Bowman, AIA; and Fred Montjoy, AIA. Their dream was "to provide an instrument whereby, someday, sufficient income would be realized to be able to award scholarships, grants, prizes, etc., to the betterment of the profession."

The first aim of the trust fund was quite modest: the assets were to be "held intact and allowed to grow" until the principal was large enough to ensure a "good annual return therefrom." On December 18, 1944, the trust fund was transferred to AIA Colorado. Robert K. Fuller was designated its permanent trustee. On February 16, 1961, the fund was incorporated as a separate non-profit corporation. Its broad purpose, as reported in the December 1961 issue of AIA Colorado's newsletter, The Addenda, was (and remains today) "to advance education in architecture by granting scholarships, prizes and financial aid to deserving students in architecture and to teachers or architects interested in research projects directly related and of value to the architectural profession."

In 1961, the first scholarship was awarded by The Architectural Education Foundation, AIA Colorado. It had taken 27 years for the five founders' original dream to come true.

Since the first $600 scholarship was presented in 1961, The Architectural Education Foundation, AIA Colorado has awarded more than $1 million in scholarships, grants and other awards to more than 250 students, architects and teachers.

For many years, architects, faculty members and students alike, have returned to school for study or have had a research project funded because they received assistance through The Architectural Education Foundation, AIA Colorado.

Our Denver practice's core business has been office buildings and workplace interiors — this provides us the opportunity for the interior planning and the building design to constantly inform each other — resulting in highly effective overall design. With a multi-disciplinary staff of 58 professionals including architects, graphic designers, interior designers, and other specialists, individual members of the design team are carefully selected to reflect the necessary skills for the scope and scale of each project. Clients work with designers they know, and over time the team is able to develop a thorough understanding of the clients' business objectives and priorities.
